How Beamtime works

Runs are plain files, the index is a cache, and every frontend calls one operation set.

Files are the truth.
One writer per file; the index is only a cache.

People and agents, together.
One record that both write, check and read.

Records, never runs.
Beamtime observes experiments; it never launches them.